

Create your own Egg Family

You will need -

- Plastic eggs that break in half (boiled eggs is an alternative)
- Permanent marker
- Modelling clay (optional)

Quite simply, begin drawing a variety of facial expressions on each of the plastic eggs. Some were demonstrating emotions of being happy, sad, confused, angry, proud etc. You can use the modelling clay in the base of each egg to keep them standing (or bobbling) upright.

If you have used eggs which can break in half, you can break and mix them up to create a whole lot of new and interesting emotions. It's so fabulous and interesting to see how much a face can change just by the shape of the eyes or position of the mouth.

They can be used in role play or for you to show how you are feeling.
